Information About Your Health

Why we collect it and how it is used

We need your details so we can treat you

Why do we need your information?

We will ask you for some personal information about your health or circumstances so that you can receive proper care and treatment. We may have to share this with other health professionals. We will ask you if you would like your family or others involved in your care to know about the treatment you are receiving.

Sometimes we have to pass on your details such as a new birth or if a crime has been committed

We may use your medical details to help teach future Doctors and Nurses or to help plan and improve future health services

We are legally required to allow you access to your medical records. There is a small fee to pay. You can write to the person in charge of your care who should respond in good time.

We collect basic information such as your name, date of birth and home address. We may also ask you about any medical problems and medication you take. We may also require contact details of any carers involved in your care.
